Man Killed In Accident Here

The funeral for a 23-year old Walkertown man, killed Saturday night when struck by a car, will be held at the Ira Combs Memorial Baptist Church, Jeff, tomorrow at 1 p.m. with the Revs. Sam Combs, Jeff, and Paul Combs, Detroit, Mich., officiating.

Burial will be in the Riverside Cemetery.

The victim, Charles Edward Hogston, 23, was dead on arrival at the Mount Mary Hospital here of injuries suffered when struck by a car on N Main Street at midnight, Saturday.

The car, driven by Eugene Spencer, 22, Bulan, after striking Hogston collided into the rear of the Hogston car. Spencer, and two occupants on the car, Perry Stacy, 24, and Paul Barger, 20, both of Bulan, are in the Mount Mary Hospital here where their condition is reported as fair.

Spencer is charged with manslaughter and robbery. Barger and Stacy with robbery. The three stole $40 from Henry B. Whitt, Walkertown, and took Whitt's car one hour before they ran down Hogston and collided into his car.

Police Chief Bob Heath said the three Bulan residents were drinking at a tavern above Jeff, Saturday night, when they were asked by Whitt to drive him and his car to Walkertown, below Hazard.

At Jeff, the three forced Whitt out of the car and stole the money from him. This happened around 11 p.m.

Heath said Spencer was driving Whitt's car at a high rate of speed when they came on the Hogston's car.

Hogston, according to Heath, had stopped on the right side of the N Main to repair a flat. His father-in-law W. M. Noplis, Hazard, saw the car approaching and yelled to Hogston to run.

Heath said Noplis told him that his son in law was thrown 100 feet down the road by the impact of the car. After striking Hogston, the Spencer's car smashed into the rear of the Hogston car.

Spencer, Stacy and Barger were admitted to the Mount Mary and are under armed guard there, Heath said.

Hogston is survived by his wife, Mrs. Virginia Hogston, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hogston, a Walkertown, two brothers, Robert, Detroit, Mich., and Gerline, Hazard, and three sisters, Mrs. Laura Combs, and Miss Katherine Hogston, Hazard, and Mrs. Barney Jones, Christopher.

His body will remain at the home of his father-in-law in Dubuco until the time of the funeral.

Maggard Funeral Home is in charge of services.

Bulldogs Defeated By Hindman

There was much to "Moore" for the Hazard Bulldogs, Friday night, as they went down before a fire-up Hindman quintet, 73-64, in the second half of a double header at Memorial Gym.

Playing before a 2,500 crowd, Hindman reversed a 68-66 loss to Hazard in the invitational, by leaping taking the lead with a minute gone in the first quarter and holding it throughout the game.

Cordia won the opener, 64-58, over Owsley County after leading the visitors by 15 points at halftime.

The loss for Hazard was its second of the season.

With Forward Jimmie Moore connecting on his one-handed, leaping push shots, Hindman broke into the clear early in the second quarter as they marched to a 10 point lead.

Hazard was way off the play that marked their appearance in the invitational. The taller Bulldogs in the first half lost the ball ten times, and were unable to control either defensive or offensive backboards, despite hitting better than 48 percent of their shots from the field.

Hindman capitalized on Hazard miscues to make a walk-away of the tilt.

Ahead 11-9 at the close of the first quarter, the Yellowjackets widened their lead to 13 points at halftime as they took a 40-27 advantage. Hazard trailed 16 points at the end of the third.

62-46, and was only able to close the gap in the fourth frame after the brilliant Moore had gone to the sidelines via the foul route.

Moore hit for 22 points on ten field goals and two free before fouling out with 41 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

Honors for the evening, however, were taken by Hazard's Don Smith with 28 points, 14 of these from the charity line. Twenty-three of Smith's points came in the second half when he was operating out of the center slot.

Johnson Ends Army Course

Lieutenant Johnson entered the Army in 1945.

He is a 1945 graduate of Hazard High School and is a former student at Western Kentucky State College. The lieutenant's mother, Mrs. Cornia Johnson, lives at 327 Maple St. His wife, Betty, lives in Columbus, Ga.

It was Moore, however, who virtually broke the backs of the Bulldogs. The talented Hindman forward hit for ten straight points in the second quarter to give his team a 23-13 lead. When Hazard, early in the third quarter, gave evidence of threatening, Moore hit on timely shots that threw a dampener on the Hazard attack.

Owsley, after being outplayed in the first half-roared back on Cordia in the second half and came close to downing the Lions.

Cordia posted a 13-8 lead in the first quarter, was ahead 38-23 at halftime and had a three point edge, 47-44 at the end of the third frame.

Pacing the Lions was Harold Hudson with 18 points. Rab Combs hit for 13 and Charles Combs got 12. High for Owsley were Gay and Hughes with 15 points each.

State Nabs A'wam Man On Assault

A 35-year old Avawam man was arrested here by State Police, Sunday afternoon, charged with assault and battery for allegedly pushing a woman out of his car on Kentucky 80, just west of Combs.

The woman, Alleen Cornett, 40, Combs, underwent surgery yesterday afternoon at the Hazard Miner's Memorial Hospital. Her condition today was reported as satisfactory by hospital officials.

She suffered a head injury, cuts and bruises when pushed from the car. State Police Trooper Lonnie Leach reported the car was probably going approximately 40 to 50 miles when she was pushed from it.

Leach said the woman slid along gravel for approximately 27 feet before rolling into a ditch line.

Arrested in the incident was Sam Cornett, 35, of Avawam. Trooper Leach said that Cornett was picked up at a restaurant in Combs.

Leach said that the mate to a shoe belonging to Miss Cornett was found in Cornett's car at the time of the arrest. The other shoe was on Miss Cornett's foot when she was discovered in the ditch along the roadside.

Leach and Trooper Charles Webb conducted the investigation.

Funeral Held For City Teacher

The funeral for Mrs. Edna B. McIntyre, 52, Hazard was held this afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church with the Rev. William Brown and Rev. Ernest Stricklin officiating. Burial was in the Riverside Cemetery.

A teacher at Hazard High School, Mrs. McIntyre died at the Mount Mary Hospital, Saturday morning at 3:30 a.m.

She was a graduate of the Riverside Institute High School, Lost Creek, and attended Eastern State Teacher's College and Morehead State Teachers College. Mrs. McIntyre had taught in the Perry County and Hazard City schools systems for approximately 30 years. A native of Grayville, Tenn., she was a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

She is survived by her husband, Edna McIntyre, her mother, Mrs. L. uza K. Bell, Hazard, two brothers, Francis Bell, Hazard, and James Bell, Vico, and three sisters, Mrs. Ruth Johnston, Knoxville, Tenn., Mrs. Nola Begley and Mrs. Jean Townsend, Hazard.

Palbearers were Paul Wright, Roy G. Eversole, Paul Caldwell, Raleigh Hall, Bill Browning, Ken Tate, Herb Fisher and W. G. McKinney.

Johnson Funeral Home was in charge of services.

Assigned Overseas

Elmer Dean Deaton, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Charlie Deaton, Walkertown, has completed his basic training at Ft. Hood, Tex., and is being assigned to Germany for the rest of his tour of duty.

State Sue Banks For Road Culvert

Former Perry County Judge J. H. Banks has been charged with converting state highway property to his own use in a suit filed in Franklin Circuit Court, Frankfort.

The suit, filed in behalf of the State, is to collect $1,262 from Banks and former Perry County Highway Superintendent Luther Combs for using 96 feet of re-inforced concrete pipe, which was diverted from a road project to a farm owned by Banks.

It said use of the pipe was made with the "consent and connivance of Combs. The suit was filed by Astor Hogg and Hafford Hays.

It notes that the pipe culvert

Perry Included In Soil Funds

Perry County is one of 30 Kentucky counties that will share in $168,000 allotted today by the Department of Agriculture for emergency soil conservation practices due to flood and natural disasters.

The allotment was announced in a telegram to the Hazard Herald by Senator John Sherman Cooper and Senator Thurston B. Morton.

Other counties are Caldwell, Crittenden, Livingston, Marshall, Calloway, McCracken, Graves, Ballard, Carlisle, Hickman, Fulton, Davies, Henderson, Ohio, Webster, Letcher, Breathitt, Lee, Johnson, Floyd, Pike Knott, Magoffin, Clay, Bell, Leslie Harlan, Knox, McCreary and Whitley.

Miss Baker Wins Soil Essay Contest

Winner of the Soil Conservation Essay contest in Perry County was Miss Mildred Nan Baker, a student at Upper Broadway School. Reproduced here is Miss Baker's essay on soil conservation.

Miss Mildred Baker

Conservation means using wisely all the things that God has given to us. And as our great leader Franklin Delano Roosevelt has said, "We think of our land and water and human resources not as static and sterile possessions but as life giving assets to be directed by wise provision for future days. We seek to use our natural resources not as a thing apart but as something that is interwoven with industry, labor, finance, taxation, agriculture, home, recreation and good citizenship. The results of this interweaving will have a greater influence on the future American standard of living than all the rest of our economics put together."

Since the beginning of history conserving our natural resources has been one of man's greatest needs. We now realize more than ever the need of soil conservation with our ever increasing population. Most of our food that supports all living things comes directly or indirectly from the soil.

The soil is constantly being destroyed by the forces of nature as well as the improper farming methods used by man. It is estimated that over one-third of our top soil has been lost. This top soil is the part of the earth in which our crops grow. It takes several hundred years to build an inch of top soil by natural means. But this inch of soil can be destroyed in a very short time if water and wind erosion is permitted by man.

Erosion has already ruined more than fifty million acres of farm land in the United States. It not only washes away soil but the minerals that are needed by the plants to give man the needed elements his body requires for growth and development.

The farmer must use better methods in his farming and make his land produce to its fullest. He must plan his use of land in such a manner so as to protect and improve it. This can be done by planting "grass" and trees to prevent the soil from washing away. The sloping land can be terraced and cultivated in contour rows. Crops can be rotated and proper fertilizers used and the land turned into grasslands and allowed to rest. If he plants legume crops the soil will be enriched as well as preventing erosion. He can make much use of check dams which will hold the water.

Erosion and soil depletion lowers the value of all the property in a community, and it plays a part in keeping out new industries. Many people leave and go into new places to live and make their living.

The soil is our greatest resource and, "When the soil is gone, man must go, and the process doesn't take long," said President Theodore Roosevelt.

Soil and water conservation are closely related. Water is a basic need to life. All living things need it. If they are to live and grow. Today many factors are polluting our streams and rivers and making them unusable. Mine waste often contains various harmful chemicals. Sawmill dumps may drain harmful products into the stream. Oil field refuse contaminates water. Erosion from farm land makes muddy is also pollution. Sewage that isn't treated in a disposal plant or a sewage tank can also cause pollution. Polluted streams can't be used in industries or for drinking water. To treat streams and rivers so they can be made usable costs money. If we are to have good water, we must prevent its pollution.

Water is not as plentiful on earth as it was in prehistoric times. Our problem is to help nature distribute it for man's use.

Conservation of water means retaining as much water as possible where it falls. By doing this there will be more for crops and less quick run off to cause flooding and silting. This quick run off after heavy rains could be saved by making dams and ponds for storing it.

Water has many uses. It is necessary for crops and to prevent famines. Some crops require more water than others, for instance a single corn plant requires one hundred fifty gallons of water. It takes forty gallons to grow the feed for one egg, and one thousand eight hundred gallons to grow the grains to make one pound of beef. This water comes from the soil. There must be a constant supply of pure water for human life. It is the home of the fish. It is needed for electric power, for manufacturing, for good health, cleanliness and recreation. These are only a few uses.

While water is necessary it can be destructive. We have only to recall the floods of 1927, 1937 and the very recent one of January, 1957 to make us realize that something must be done to prevent them. These floods brought great destruction. Homes were destroyed, lives lost, roads and bridges washed out, soil lost, crops ruined, besides untold damage in business sections.

The first step in preventing the floods is the Small Watershed Program. It is a means to conserve our soil, water, timber and wildlife water for a growing population in an expanding economy.

A watershed is important because it is where people live and get their living. It is where people find recreation and develop their ways of life, including education and religion. It is where people get in tune with nature and develop values that are satisfying.

"If we are to develop agriculturally and industrially we must make the use of every drop of water which falls on our soil," said President Dwight David Eisenhower.

L & N Head Says Roads Is Economic Squeeze

The declining business cycle bringing a lower traffic movement, coupled with a record high cost, has placed the railroad in the tightest economic position in a decade—this was the way John E. Tilford, president of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, summarized the year's results.

Figures released by Mr. Tilford indicated the year's gross as $245 million, down 1 1/2% from 1956, but operating expenses rose to $187 million, 5.6% over last year.

Net income after taxes is estimated at $19.5 million or $8.00 per share compared with $10.70 for 1956—a decrease of 25%.

Carloadings for 1957 were 1,756,000, down 3.2% from the relatively good year of 1956.

Notwithstanding the small decline in gross income and carloadings, the drop in earnings was much sharper because of increase in wage and costs of materials.

Passenger train revenues from passengers, mail, and express continued their decline, producing $18.8 million, or 7.3% under 1956.

Despite a general lull in business, the South continued to grow industrially, Mr. Tilford said. New industries located on the Railroad during the year totaled 184, compared with 231 for the previous year. However, the estimated total investment of these new industries located on the line in 1957 was $87.5 million, as compared with $86 million invested in 1956. Additionally, some $177 million was invested in expansions of existing industries during the year.

Business Improvement
Mr. Tilford said that he expected business to improve very little in 1958, but that he looked forward to an upward trend in early 1959. He listed a substantial growth in the nation's population as one of the factors expected to trigger an upswing and rekindle the industrial and commercial growth in the Southern states served by the L. & N.

"All along the lines of our Railroad there are scores of choice industrial sites available," he pointed out. "There is also at hand an abundance of raw materials, transportation and ample power, including a surplus of the nation's finest manpower."

In expectancy of this resurgence Mr. Tilford said that the Railroad was going ahead with its previously announced $50 million expansion plans for 1958.

Outstanding Accomplishments

The merger of the N. C. & St. L. Railway into the L. & N. which took place August 30 was cited by Mr. Tilford as one of the outstanding accomplishments of the year for the Railroad. He said that with this merger, 1,043 miles of railroad were added to the L. & N. System, giving it a total of 5,704 miles of main line track with 9,300 miles including all tracks, and boosting it in size to the second largest railroad mileage in Southern territory.

"A substantial improvement in service and economy should result from this removal of duplicate facilities and services, as well as from the consolidation and streamlining of our materials and supplies inventory," Mr. Tilford said.

Coincident with the merger, the road opened eight new traffic sales offices—Boston, Buffalo, Philadelphia, Milwaukee,

Knott County Officials Sworn In Today

Knott County officials elected in November took over offices today at the courthouse in Hindman.

Returning to office as county judge was Dennis Sturgill, the first to succeed himself in Knott County for this office. Sturgill 49, is the son of the late John Sturgill, clerk to his death Knott County for four terms.

Installed as county attorney was Afton Smith, who had previously served a short term in this office and as commonwealth's attorney. Smith, a Mason and member of the American Legion, is a U. K. law graduate, and married to the former Miss J. L. Hays. They have two sons, Granby 12 and Douglas M. 8.

Installed for his third term was Roy Mullins, Mullins, 33, is married to the former Betty Barker, Alcock, and they have three children, Lanin, Lina and Riekle. Neal A. graduate of Union College, Barboursville, Mullins said this week his chief duty will continue to be his wife.

R. B. Bates, Hindman, will start his third term as Circuit Court Clerk. Bates, 60, was married to Ida Bates and is the father of 11 children.

John Everage, 33, will be Coroner for the next four years. Everage, a Mason and veteran of WW II, is a graduate of the Kentucky School of Embalming, Louisville, and a member of the Kentucky Funeral Director's Association.

He is married to Dorothy Everage. They have two daughters, Mary Jo, and Johnnie Sharon.

Justice of Peace for District No. 4 will be Quenton Jacobs, 38, of Topmost. He has served in the office by appointment since Nov. 1956, and is a charter member of the American Legion Post No. 295, Garrett.

Carlos (Jake) Huff, of Garner, Minneapolis, Omaha, Peoria and Gadsden. The company now has 54 commercial offices in 24 states, the District of Columbia and Havana, Cuba, with commercial agents covering the entire country selling Dixieland and the services of the Railroad. These offices, Mr. Tilford pointed out, are expected to benefit the Railroad with new as well as increased business from these areas.

Other noteworthy accomplishments listed for the year by the L. & N.'s president were: Opening of a new, modern $11 million "push button" freight yard at Atlanta, Ga., together with a new $1 million freight house.

Beginning construction or similar yard at Birmingham, Ala., to cost $9 million.

Installation of 62 miles of centralized traffic control.

Providing greater mechanization of track maintenance with purchases of track-working equipment costing over $500,000.

will be the New Sheriff of Knott County. Jake, as everyone knows him, is 34 years old, was married to the former Velma Glee Gayheart, has one son, Phillip Rodney Huff, and is a member of Hindman Masonic Lodge, No. 689. Jake was the former of the Huff's General Store at Garner, and is now a partner in the Green & Huff Automobile Sales, at Hindman.

Mr. Huff will begin his first task as a Public Official, when asked what he hoped most to do as Sheriff of Knott county, being very conscientious he said, "I desire most to give Knott County 4 years of honest and faithful service as Sheriff."

The Hon John Chris Cornett of Malle, will again resume his duties as Circuit Judge of Knott and Magoffin Counties. Mr. Cornett is 17 years of age, is married to Mrs. Golda Stone and has two children, Elizabeth Ann and Earl McCon who are now 13 years old. Judge Cornett attended the Hindman High School, Caney Junior College, Morehead College, Cumberland College and University of Kentucky Law School. He taught school for several years. Has served as State Representative of Knott County, County Judge of Knott County, Commonwealth's Attorney and will start his third term as Circuit Judge. Mr. Cornett stated that his aim for the next term of office would be to hold the people live a better lives both morally and economically and to hold them always receive fair and just treatment in his court.

Raymond Martin, of Carrie, will be the New Constable for District No. 1. Mr. Martin is 54 years of age, is married to Lettie Martin and has two children. He went to school at Berea. This will be the first political office that Mr. Martin has held, but has served for several years as Deputy Sheriff of Knott County. When asked what he wished or planned to do he said that he would do the best he could.

John D. Mullins of Amburgey, will be the Constable for District No. 2. Mr. Mullins is 65 years of age and will be serving his second term as Constable. His motto will be as in the past to prosecute all violations, and to treat all alike. Mr. Mullins is married to Matilda Gibson, and has three children.

Birt Owsley, of Vest, will be the new Constable for District No. 3. This is Mr. Owsley's first venture into politics, but he promises to be a good Constable.

Mr. Casebolt, 46, Buried In Knott

The funeral for Ernest Casebolt, 46, Lima, Ohio, was held at Hall Branch, last week. Burial was in the Moulse Cemetery.

He is survived by five sons, Charles, Mousie, Jack, Bryson, N. C., Robert, James, and Ernest Jr., Lima, Ohio, and two daughters, Mrs. Betty Wemick, Bryson City, N. C., and Mary Anna Casebolt, Lima, Ohio.

Mrs. Casebolt died in Lima, Dec. 27.

Beware

It seems that many years ago, the late Floyd Goss and Rodney "Big Boy" Baker was trapped near their home around Buckhorn. As this story was related to me by Jimmy J. R. Boggs, it seems that they took time about running this trap line. It seems that Floyd had found a head catfish in the river near his home, being Big Boys time to run the traps. Floyd figured he would have some fun. So he took this catfish way back on the mountain carefully placed it into one of their traps. When Big Boy came up it, he immediately started gathering all the traps they had out. He stopped by Floyd's house called him out, said Floyd the world is coming to an end. Look what I caught way back on yonder mountain. Before Floyd could explain Big Boy threw the whole shebang of traps down and wandered on toward home, as the story goes he was finished with trapping.

Lot of Sympathy Needed

It seems that not too many years back. There was a fellow that worked the rail road. It seems that he had committed some infraction of the rules. He was called upon the carpet for it, after the hearing was over some of his fellow workers asked him how he came out. He replied, He says "You Know" they didn't have a bit of sympathy for me.

Thank To You

Raleigh Pratt, to the help you gave in the deer hunt. Folks, Raleigh is now retired, lives on a little farm near the deer hunting area on Buckhorn.

Raleigh was formerly employed by Harbortley Mining Co. From about three o'clock on Friday afternoon, Nov. 22nd to ten o'clock that night, then again on Saturday morning from about five to eight o'clock a.m.

Raleigh had counted 1104 cars going into the deer hunting area. He states that even after he went to bed there was still all night long a continuous hum of cars passing his place. Raleigh states that there was from three to nine hunters in each car.

Boys, you will agree with me, there were a lot of deer hunters. What makes you feel so good about it, no one was injured, no accidents of any importance of any kind.

To me, this is one of the most remarkable things of the hunt. To all officers that worked in this hunt I want to say that you did job.

Nice Hearing

From you Mrs. Ben Woods up Jeff way. Mrs. Woods states that she is only 73 also that she is a good fisherman. Boys from the way she talked I would not be the one to doubt her word.

Gabe Brashear who is a brother to Mrs. Woods. I would like to know more about this turtle that put you out of a boat back in your younger days. Come forward Gabe, I want to hear you sound your trumpet.

Thanks to you Barney Baker which is not the rabbit hunting one, or the one that fishes, but the one that is an ally. Glad to know that you enjoy reading the antics from one hill billy to another.

Nice hearing from you Sammy G. Holthiday down, Eagle way Sam is postmaster at Engle, thanks for the kind invitation to visit and hunt in your area. This I might do before too long. Also to you Jeannie and Jerrie Nolan, they report Charlie Merrill, Charlie Merrill Jr., Delbert Fugate James Eversole, Alex Eversole, and Edgar Collins that they killed so many rabbits in the vicinity of Richmond, that they were still trying to count and get them cleaned.

These kids seems to think that the rabbits were so cold they couldn't run on this particular day. They say they must have stood still to have killed that many.

Gabe I would say these rabbits were really on the move. Experience has taught me they don't set long enough unless he is a sick one to get a head on him. Without a doubt your friends had a very good hunt I am sure.

Do We Forget So Soon?

Folks, it will soon be a year since we saw the waters of our streams wipe out most everything in front of it. I saw your homes and business almost annihilated. Some of you have made a tremendous come back, many of you will never ever come it.

Few days ago I drove to the head waters of our streams it was during the rainy spell, and it was not considered a large rain at that. I noticed how fast the small stream were rising. I also noticed how fast the water was running off our mountain sides. It was only a small rain I would say that caused this, this I observed. I saw foundations of what use to be a home where children played. They haven't been built back. As my trip carried me up one side of the divide which was up Carrs Fork way. I came back down Rockhouse Creek on to the main channel of the North Fork of the Ky. River.

There you could see how fast a small rain did raise the main river. After seeing the devastation of this stream less than a year ago. I would suggest that the Army Engineers that are connected with our flood control problems take some drastic measures at once. As well as our citizens living in the area.

Folks, you might say the flood will never reach you as many thought the same thing. It never had in the past, you cannot predict the future.

Every person that lives or owns a business up and down the valleys of our head waters of our streams can expect this to happen at most any time. Why? you might ask. My answer would be that our forest has been depleted of the trees that it should have been growing. Yes many and many years ago.

Speaking of trees folks, please contact your ASC office over at the Masonic Building in regard to the tree planting program. Become a part of your neighbor. Lets get these things done.

Folks, a issue or so ago of the Herald told some of the things we should do to be ready for a flood. This is good, but I would say our immediate needs is to start something to prevent floods. Yes I would say in the shortest time possible. You people that have been damaged, your homes lost, your business destroyed, your recovery from this past one will take many years, for you to completely recover. Why not it down today and write your congressman or representative. While you are doing it why not write even the President. We need and must have some type of flood control here in this valley that we must have to give us the assurance of being able to continue to operate as a business in this valley. Write to your governor, let's be prepared, and let us be prepared to go forward in preventing other such disasters. May we soon not forget. Folks, I would say it is up to you.

Streets Of Hazard Are No Place For Eight Year Olds To Be

Fred W. Luigart Jr.

The article I wrote, recently, about the children of the streets of Hazard" hasn't yet had a tragic ending. They three boys are at an impressionable age; they are not delinquents—and fortunately, in the case of one, his parents take care of him.

Despite their erratic eating habits, they are good youngsters and have good intentions. All three of them are completely trustworthy and with a scrubbing could pass for my children.

But for the movies, there would be little or anything for them to do—which again points up the desperate need here for a public recreation center that caters to all elements of society.

Within the next year, the Hazard Golf Club will have it's new clubhouse—those of us in Sun Valley will have a swimming pool and recreational facilities for our children and ourselves. But what of the youngsters, now roaming the streets, whose parents can't afford membership in these private clubs. Are they to be deprived of recreational facilities?

And if so, give me one reason why, other than for the way the chips fall in life. We may like to think of ourselves as self-made people—but few if any of us are. Luck, family, and good fortune has made most of us what we are today. These children who must roam the streets are out most every night. Don't take my word for it—ask your policemen. And the reason they're roaming is because they have no place to go where they can work off the energy and steam that comes naturally to children.

None of them are scouts—or cubs. There's no Boy's Club branch here to interest them. There's no public recreation center for them. There's no YMCA. So what do they do? Roam the streets—probably the worst place in the world they could be.

We know what the answer is! A public thinking citizenry that realizes these are the children who will inherit this town of ours in the future. A citizenry that understands the importance of these children being given a decent break in life. A citizenry that comprehends the importance of a municipal swimming pool and recreation center for the children.

Hazard Civil Air Patrol Conducts Search And Rescue

December 20, 1957 saw the beginning of a series of practice search and rescue missions by the Hazard Squadron, Civil Air Patrol based at the Hazard Airport.

Six aircraft, including one USAF-CAP aircraft took part in the practice mission. The six planes flew several sorties in search of a simulated plane crash secretary spotted by First Lieutenant Elmer B. Roll and Civil Air Patrol Cadets Sterling Howard and Billy George Nickell.

The practice Search and Rescue Mission (SARCAP) was carried out from the Civil Air Patrol Headquarters at the Hazard Airport, under the direction of, mission commander Captain Arlie Webb. Captain Webb, Squadron Commander; Captain Bernard E. Faulkner, Executive Officer; First Lieutenant Bill B. Roll, Mission Communications Officer; First Lieutenant Charles Igo, Mission Operations Officer; planned the practice SARCAP.

A sixteen by twenty foot tarpaulin with a large yellow cross was spread out in an open area near the Carr Creek, Knott County school. Cadets Howard and Nickell were left with the simulated crash to represent casualties.

Search areas for each of five planes were marked on a sectional aeronautical map. Each plane pilot and his observers were assigned an area to search.

Mobile communications units and mobile rescue units were stationed on Fourseam Mountain and at Cody. These units and the searching aircraft were in contact with the base communications station manned by Second Lieutenant Walter Glenn Reynolds, Squadron Adjutant.

The usual ground control communications setup was supplemented by a flying mobile communications plane piloted by I. H. Buchanan Jr. Ground communications transmissions that could not be copied by the base station were relayed by the flying mobile unit. This is believed to be the first time a flying mobile communications unit has been used in practice Search and Rescue Missions in this area. The use of the flying mobile unit proved highly successful.

The "Target" was located by Henry Womble and his observers, Dr. L. D. Thomas and Bobby Womble. Pilot Womble was awarded a prize for being the first to report on the simulated plane crash. He radioed the base of his find and gave directions for locating the "crash" from the ground. The two mobile rescue units were dispatched to the area and the rescued "casualties" were returned to the airport. Womble was awarded a prize by Fred Vesco of the Hazard Auto Supply Company.

This first of a planned series of Practice Search and Rescue Missions was highly successful from a communications and search procedure point of view. Command pilots and their observers did a good job of searching their assigned area.

All Hazard Squadron, Civil Air Patrol Cadets taking part in the ground phase of the practice mission were given plane ride after their return to the C.A.P. base.

Warrant Officer, Benny B. Roll and Master Sergeant Emery (Sonny) Engle manned the mobile communications and mobile rescue units.

One of the major functions of Civil Air Patrol is searching for aircraft reported missing. This actual search and rescue operation is carried on under the direction of the United States Air Force Mobile communications and mobile rescue units are maintained in a state of readiness by CAP. These units are ready for action on short notice. Practice Search and Rescue missions are scheduled regularly in order to maintain proficiency in search and rescue procedure in event of an actual crash disaster.

Another important function of CAP is the training of air-minded youth. For this the Civil Air Patrol has set up a Civil Air Patrol Cadet Training program in which air-minded youth are given a basic education in air science, aeronautics and aerology. Recipients of this basic training are given preference over other airforce enlistees and automatically receive an Airman's rating. The Hazard Squadron expects to train about two hundred cadets during 1958.

Children Take Heed Of Sage's Advice; You Have Obligation To Mom and Dad

Loss of people are parents, all of us are offspring, many of us are both—so perhaps all of us should read what a young lady by the name of Michael Drury has to say on the handling of parents by their children!

She thinks we have had a sufficient quantity of advice on the parent-child relationship, but that "fully half the subject is ignored—the top half at that." We hear continually about what parents owe their children, but "we rarely consider that love, after all, is a two-way street, that we owe our parents something too."

In her highly provocative article, "Your Parents and You," presented in the January Reader's Digest and condensed from Glamour, Miss Drury insists that younger people really do have some obligations to their parents. Further, she thinks that "part of the pleasure in growing up is the dawning realization that our parents are not so terribly different from us."

Specifically, these are the obligations the writer stresses:

"We owe our parents breathing space—room to move around, even to make drastic changes in their lives; to change their line of work or to remarry. It is astonishing how resentful some people feel about a parent's having a private life."

Among the "fundamental deencies" to which Miss Drury thinks parents are entitled: "We owe them patience; wait a few years. It is quite common for parents to like their children better at certain ages than at others—but they do not abandon them in he off-seasons. So, at intervals we may have difficulty liking our parents, but time makes changes in both of us."

"We owe them forbearance: suppose they aren't the most exciting people you know. Nobody is so dull that he has no interests—unless we are too dull to find them."

"We owe them attention. We alone can provide the little things—the gift when it's not a birthday, a letter when it isn't our turn to write. Of course such things are trouble. Nobody knows that better than parents who have sat up nights to make a daughter's party dress or eaten lunches in a cheap hamburger place to save money for a bicycle.

"Most of all, we owe our parents what we owe ourselves or anyone else: an acceptance as people. Right, wrong, impatient, generous, serene, suspicious—older people are, as a wise woman once said to me, 'just young people, only more so.' We," concludes this remarkably perspicacious young lady, "will be there ourselves one day."

As we said, everyone (and that obviates naming any names) should read this article.

PAPER PULPIT

Non-Sectarian—For The Unchurched

Outer space! everybody's thinking about outer space now! And everybody thinks the Russians are masters of outer space. But that's not true. Almost two thousand years ago there was a man who proved himself the master of outer space.

He proved himself to be a being from outer space. He said "I proceedeth forth and come God—I came down from Heaven—before Abraham was I am." He did not ride down in a chariot, nor come in some great public demonstration, because He wanted to be a true man with all human experiences. There were angels and songs to selected representatives of the human race, but it was all about a simple little baby in a barn. He was a baby born of woman, yet His conception was miraculous, without human father. Wonderful combination of the natural and the supernatural. The One from outer space came in good taste; more than man, yet not doing violence to the ways of men; true God and true man in one wonderful person.

Cadillac

It Says "Greatness"... in Any Language!

Wherever highways exist and motor cars are known, the name "Cadillac" signifies but one thing—the unmistakable leader in its field.

For the motor car that has borne that distinguished name for the past fifty-five years has been so well designed and crafted that it has become a synonym for everything good and desirable in a product.

And never have these virtues been more evident than they are in the Cadillac car for 1958.

A single, sweeping glance at the new "car of cars", for example, reveals a grace and majesty and elegance never before attainable in modern automotive design.

A brief journey at the wheel provides irrefutable proof of the forward strides that have been made in Cadillac performance and in Fleetwood coachcrafting.

And a study of the facts about Cadillac economy and dependability indicates a soundness of investment beyond anything in Cadillac's brilliant past.

If you haven't as yet inspected and driven a 1958 Cadillac, you should do so very soon.

Whatever your favorite among Cadillac's wide selection of models, which includes the distinguished Eldorado Brougham, you will find it a rare masterpiece in everything a Cadillac can be.

Income Tax Season Officially Opens

The income tax filing season for 1958 is officially open. This means that all taxpayers will be gathering information to file their own tax returns. The deadline for filing is April 15, 1958. There has been little change in Federal income filing requirements from last year. The same general regulations regarding who must file still apply, according to District Director Wm. M. Gray of the Internal Revenue Service. Instruction booklets recently received by Kentucky taxpayers should help them in the preparation of their 1957 returns, he indicated. Those under 65 who had a gross income of $600.00 or more during 1957 must file. If over 65, the income base for filing rises to $1200.00. Self-employed persons whose net earnings were $400.00 or more must file. Mr. Gray further reminded the residents of this area that Wednesday, January 15, 1958, is the deadline for paying the fourth and last installment on estimated Federal income tax returns for the year 1957. Mr. Gray stated that those who filed an estimated return and have a payment due on January 15th should have received a notice by mail. Farmers of this area should also take note that January 15th is the last day for filing their estimated Federal income tax returns, unless they plan to file their final returns on or before February 15th. Those farmers who file an estimated return on January 15th and pay the tax due thereon have until April 15th to file their final returns and pay balance of tax due. Otherwise, the law requires that they file their final returns and pay the full amount of the tax due by February 15th. This option is available to farmers only.

The Internal Revenue Service during the 1958 income tax filing season will again stress self-help as its basic theme of taxpayer assistance. The most important thing to the taxpayer now is to prepare his return accurately and file early in the filing period, rather than waiting until the last stage of the season.

Coal Industry To See Rough Sledding In '58

Huntington, W. Va. — "I'm afraid the coal industry is in for some rather rough sledding during the first half of 1958," David Francis, president of Princess Coal Sales Company, said this week.

"The trend downward has already begun," Francis said, "because production for the last quarter of this year is off 10 per cent compared with the same quarter of 1957."

"I may sound gloomy, but with steel and Europe off on their buying and a warm water in the offing, the 150,000,000 tons produced in 1957 in District 7 and 8 of our area may drop by 15,000,000 tons."

"The two districts are in Southern West Virginia, Eastern Kentucky and Southeastern Virginia."

"Most of this decrease may occur in the first six months of 1958, but we should be readjusted by midsummer after the Great Lakes shipping has opened up."

Although forecasting a decrease in production, Francis said he thought the coal industry would recoup its losses before long.

New Bonefish Record Set By Joe Brooks

Joe Brooks has just turned in another record. Fishing from Vic Barothy's houseboat, the Hy-Ball, at Cayo Rosario, Isle of Pines, Cuba, on Dec. 18th, Joe landed 46 bonefish on flies, in a single day. The catch beats the former record of 40 taken in a single day, established a few years back by the great boxox slugger, Ted Williams.

Brooks started fishing at 9 a.m., didn't even stop for lunch, but ate a couple of sandwiches between casts, as guide Rene Rieers picked up a Johnson Citation spin cast reel when Brooks was away from the boat, wading, and added 13 more to the score. The other guide, Carl, landed 3 on a spinning outfit, while Betty Barothy brought in two. Brooks used a 9 1/2 foot slow action fly rod, a GAF line, 12 foot taper, running from 25 pound test at butt to 3 pound test tip, and a Phillips pink shrimp fly.

LOOKING BACKWARD IN THE HERALD—1933

Bar Association Installs Offices In 1933

A mild recession is the keynote for the nation's economy in 1933, but back in 1933, it was more than a recession that dominated the weekly Hazard Herald.

The big story was "Perry Gets $52,000 for Relief Work," a common headline in the depression days of the thirties.

On the local scene there was other big news.

The Masons were installing officers... Allen Moore, master... J. E. Garnett, senior warden... H. J. Bonta, junior warden... C. T. Alexander, treasurer... J. Ross Bernard, secretary... Ruehen Bentley, office not given... Clyde Leveridge, senior deacon... Morris Green, junior deacon... and J. T. Lewellyn, junior steward.

Elmer O. S. Warren commented that "taxes on all classes are now 15 percent of the income of the people." A tragedy then?

The Hazard High School basketball team that included Morton Combs, Abe Gay, Ed Edwards, Delbert Davis, Nick Brashear, Eugene Tellent, Waldo Combs, Denzil Barker, Ernest Combs, and Coach P. M. Payne and Manager Joe Craft departed for a game in Corbin.

A grocery was advertising what 5c could buy—it included pound cans of pork and beans, red kidney beans, prunes. Pork shoulder was selling for 6 cents—hog brains for 10 cents a pound, and pure pork sausage for 10 cents a pound. Kale Greens, 6 cents a pound, breakfast bacon, 10 cents a pound. Coffee, 3-pound bag for 55 cents.

The price of a inch at the Evergreen Tea Room was 40 cents. Dinner, 50 cents.

The Family Theater had as the rage of the day—Harold Lloyd in "Movie Crazy." It took the proverbial "thin dime" to get you in.

Porcine Davis and P. M. Payne attended the Kentucky-Ohio basketball game in Lexington.

a guest of Misses Lettie and Rena Haydon.

Miss Nancy Chambers of Frankfort.

Clayburn Dix was returning to school in Cincinnati.

Stiles Robertson, U.S. Navy, was home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Robertson.

L. A. Johnson, of Buckhorn, was in Hazard for business, and Miss Lucile Powell entertained with a dance at her home.

Guests included Misses Maxine Clayton, Katherine Combs, Margaret Craft, Elizabeth Barbaux, Bernice Morgan, and Elizabeth Warren, and John Seivers, Robert Mottler, Harold Long, Robert Cole, N. C. Webb, A. C. Brooks, Colburn Gross, William Kelly, Eli Boggs, Joe Craft, Karl Tatum, Elmer Eversole, Marshall Mahan and Chester Stevens.

Remodelling was completed of the Yellow Lantern Tea Room—and Little Orphan Annie was showing at the Virginia Theater.

Approval Given Hazard's Urban Renewal Project

Approval from Washington has been given the City of Hazard's Urban Renewal Project, and the buying of property in the East Main Street slum clearance program will probably begin sometime next month, Hober Wooten, city manager, announced today.

The project calls for the clearing of an area in Hazard bounded by the Depot Street Bridge, starting with the Central Hotel, and including all buildings on that side of Main Street to the Coca Cola bottling plant.

Although not a part of the Urban Renewal Project, the State is to extend Main Street through the area to intersect with East Main Street just west of the bottling plant.

Wooten was informed by the Housing and Home Finance Agency's approval of the project in a letter received today from E. Bruce Wedge, regional director.

Work on the project was started last April when the Board of Commissioners, Mayor Douglas Combs, and Commissioners Calloway Colwell and R. C. Gibson, requested federal aid on the program. The area qualified for federal aid because of damage caused by the flood.

Tentative plans call for the razed area to be made into a municipal parking lot.

One-third of the cost of the project is to be paid by the

Famed G'trotters To Appear In Morehead

The Harlem Globetrotters, presenting a basketball circus which has long been basketball's greatest box office attraction the world over, return to the spacious Morehead State College Fieldhouse Thursday, January 16, to meet the Honolulu Surfriders at 7:30 p.m. (CST).

The Trotters delighted a large crowd in the fieldhouse last season, when they wound up an every-night campaign with the remarkable record of 427 wins and four defeats. The squad split up for tours of Europe, North Africa, South America and Central America after visiting Morehead.

Also on the bill this year will be the usual high class half-time entertainment. The acts include Jackie Pere, Australian equilibrist formerly with the Holiday on Ice show; trampoline artists Jimmy and Yvonne Garner; famed balancers and jugglers Lee Marx and Billie who have played New York Radio City Music Hall three times; juggler Don Phillips and Hawaiian hula dancer Kapiolani Miller, Miss Hawaii of 1955. Miller's musical accompaniment will be provided by former Yale All-American basketball star Tony Lavelli.

The Trotters played to 1,976, 702 paying fans last season.

One of the members of the famed troupe is Norman Lee, from Roosevelt High School in Dayton, where he won All-State honors. Another is Chico Burrell, formerly with the Broadway Clowns and one of the top ball-handlers in basketball.
